Solutionary, an NTT Group security company, is the next generation managed security services provider (MSSP), focused on delivering managed security services, security consulting services and global threat intelligence.

The Next Generation MSSP

Founded in 2000, Solutionary has a proven history delivering security services to global enterprises, mid-sized organizations and government entities to reduce risk, increase security and support compliance initiatives. Solutionary services are based on next generation threat intelligence, experienced security professionals and the patented ActiveGuard® service platform.

Solutionary provides 24/7 log monitoring and management services to clients globally through fully redundant security operations centers (SOCs).

ActiveGuard® Security and Compliance Platform

ActiveGuard provides powerful cross-correlation and event-handling capabilities to recognize threats and reduce false positives, making security more operationally efficient. ActiveGuard is able to accurately collect and correlate vast amounts of data from virtually any device capable of producing a log file – supporting over 140 devices – including applications, databases, endpoints, firewalls and network devices.

ActiveGuard was purpose-built to handle large amounts of disparate data. As the number of devices that require monitoring has increased, so has the ability of ActiveGuard to scale. The volume of log data produced by enterprises requires more scale and better analytics in order to provide intelligence about the information being gathered. The ability to handle big data of this type is a key component of ActiveGuard.

Put the Service in Managed Security Services

Clients come first at Solutionary. Solutionary works as an extension of the client’s internal team as a trusted partner. Understanding and addressing individual client needs is key to the Solutionary client-first culture.

Professional Security Services (PSS)

PSS provides independent security guidance, security controls validation, technical assessments, standards-based compliance as well as remediation design and support. Solutionary consultants offer the solution that best meets the needs of the organization.

Dedicated Client Liaison

Each Solutionary Managed Security Services client gets a dedicated Service Delivery Manager (SDM) for the life of the engagement. SDMs are the client’s “friend at the factory” who helps to facilitate each client’s services, assisting with implementation and day-to-day interaction. Clients benefit from having a dedicated resource who is knowledgeable about them and their environment.
